

Design in a Turtle

Turtles share the vertebrate body plan, including the limb structure, but have a unique design in that the limbs are attached within the rib cage. In other vertebrates, the limbs attach outside the ribs

Aldabra Giant Tortoise, Aldabrachelys gigantea

Riding not recommended | Image: Wikipedia, Public Domain